The Narcissus Festival's celebration of Spring in the Year of the Rooster continues on Sunday, April 2nd, 2017 with a fabulous fashion show luncheon. The 2017 Narcissus Queen and Court will once again hold court at this delightful occasion. Mistress of Ceremony, the former Narcissus Queen, lovely Lisa Ontai will orchestrate the day's program in her inimitable charming style.

This year's theme "East Meets West" features the fashions of two designers of note:

Lillian Zhang Couture - Lillian Zhang comes to Honolulu for this special event from China to introduce exclusive high end designs from her Couture, a subsidiary of her Shanghai QiLian Fashion Company Limited. Educated in prestigious fashion design schools in Great Britain, she honed her fashion sense through the years with some of the finest fashion houses both in the East and West. She experienced cooperative efforts with Giorgio Armani, and was invited to collaborate with Hugo Boss in designing and developing evening gowns worn by Hollywood stars on the Red Carpet for the Academy Awards presentation event, -among a list of noteworthy accomplishments. Ms. Zhang and her professional design team seek perfection: from selecting the finest fabric to combining the aesthetic distillation of eastern and western cultures, - all executed with attention to detail and perfect fit.

Mae Young Designs - Mae Young is Hawaii's own designer who knows East-West fusion and creatively incorporates our island looks into her garments. From a modest start as an individual local designer, on her own, she is a rising star. Educated at McKinley High School and with a degree in Fashion Design from the Honolulu Community College, she now has her own factory and showroom, located in Iwilei, Honolulu. Mae's innovative styles blend Chinese, Hawaiian and Western to accentuate the positives for each figure!

Special Appearance - The Chamber is also pleased to warmly welcome Ms. Nancy "Ka Shen" Kwan, the beautiful actress who helped to break the racial barriers of Asian actors in major Hollywood film roles in the 1960's. Ms. Kwan will grace the runway as our celebrity model!
